ELKS' SERVICE PAYS TRIBUTE TO "MOTHERS"

"The woman, the mother, is the source of strength in the family, and thus in the community and the world," Rev. Fr. Alexis Arnoldin, assistant pastor of St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church, said Sunday night at the annual Mother's Day observance held by Gettysburg Lodge 1045, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, at the lodge home on York St.

J. Russel Kane, exalted ruler of the lodge, conducted the opening ritual for the annual service. As they entered the lodge, members and guests were presented with carnations, white to those whose mothers are deceased, red to those whose mothers still live.

Fred G. Pfeffer, former Gettysburg burgess, gave the "Tribute to Mother." Exalted Ruler Kane, Leading Knight William C. Kuhn, Loyal Knight Charles R. Rupp, Lecturing Knight James G. Warren, and Esquire Donald E. Myers took part in the ritual honoring mothers.

Fr. Arnoldin spoke following two numbers by the Gettysburg High School choir under direction of Paul W. Grove. His talk was followed by additional numbers by the choir and the closing ritual in which, in addition to the other officers, Chaplain G. Noel Flynn participated.

The musical selections by the choir included "Song of Peace," Kalmannoff; "Lift Thine Eyes to the Mountains," Mendelssohn; "Mother," Morse, and "A Mother's Day Prayer," Thompson. Jon Wagnild and Ann Jordan were the accompanists.

"In 1950 I was traveling from Munich to Berlin," Fr. Arnoldin told the group. "The passenger beside me, a German woman, looking out at the rubble and destruction of war, held that the physical destruction was not the worst part."

Kin Of Jenny Wade Visits Here Sunday

Jennie Wade's great-nephew Sunday visited for the first time the spot where his great aunt was killed during the Battle of Gettysburg, the only civilian fatality of the battle.

A 3c Delbert R. Raridan, Carroll, Iowa, currently stationed at Fort Belvoir, Va., spent the weekend with Burgess and Mrs. William G. Weaver to view the family ancestral home now known as the "Jennie Wade House."

His grandmother, Mrs. George Wade McClelland, resided at the small brick house on Baltimore St. at the time of the battle. Her sister, Jennie Wade, came to look after Mrs. McClelland and her infant. It was while baking bread for the McClelland family that Miss Wade was struck by a stray bullet and fatally injured.

If Field Marshal Viscount Bernard Montgomery, England's foremost military leader, had been in command of the Confederate troops in the Battle of Gettysburg and had fought the battle as General Lee did, General Dwight D. Eisenhower would have "sacked" him.

That's what President Eisenhower told his distinguished guest, the deputy commander of NATO, during a tour of the battlefield Sunday morning.

This is how it came about. Montgomery had told reporters in Baltimore Friday that he would have "sacked" both generals, Lee and Meade, for their actions here 94 years ago. The reporters accompanying the President here for the weekend were anxious to question Monty on this remark and their opportunity came Sunday morning.

One of the reporters asked the Field Marshal: "Do you still think you would have sacked Lee?" Montgomery: "Well, I wouldn't have fought the kind of battle that he did."

President Eisenhower: "If you had, I would have sacked you."

The entire party roared. Monty and his host the loudest.

It was a great morning for White House correspondents and photographers. And they made the most of it.

It started early. The correspondents and photographers, under the direction of James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, met at the National Museum at 8:15 o'clock. The President had accepted a written invitation from George D. Rosensteel to visit the electric map. The invitation had been presented to a guard at the Eisenhower farm gate Saturday. He in turn gave it to the President when the Chief Executive arrived at his farm with Montgomery.

Girl, 7, Curlsies
At 8:24 a.m. Sunday the Presidential party arrived at the museum. Mr. Hagerty escorted the President and Montgomery to the door where he introduced Joseph Rosensteel. The latter introduced his father and his five children, Emily, 16; Danny, 12; James, 10; Christine, 7, and David, 5.

Christine curledies to the President. Mr. Eisenhower beamed and said: "Oh, my, you don't have to do that for me." But the photographers asked for a "repeat" and the little girl did it again.

Joseph Rosensteel then introduced his brother-in-law and sister and their three children: Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Eckert, Larry, 12, Richard, 9, and Pamela, 5, and his wife.

Are Presented Gifts

The President and the Field Marshal then registered and Mrs. George Rosensteel was presented. When the party left the electric map room Mrs. Rosensteel presented the two men with copies of "Human Interest Stories of the Battle of Gettysburg" and "They Met at Gettysburg" by General Edward J. Stackpole.

Joseph Rosensteel started his narration of the battle on the electric map at 8:26 a.m. and concluded his talk at 9:02 a.m. The President and Montgomery listened intently, frequently exchanging whispers and often leaning on the railing to look closely at the map.

With the President were Dr. Howard M. Snyder, his personal physician, and George Allen, a personal friend. There were 16 photographers and 21 reporters. The general public was not admitted into the museum until after the Presidential party had left at 9:10 o'clock. The regular opening hour is 9 a.m.

Ike and Monty thanked Mr. Rosensteel for his talk and said "it was very interesting." They inspected several cases of Civil War guns before leaving.

Climb Battlefield Tower

When Ike passed a long counter of souvenirs and saw a display of new "Ike and Mamie" plates, he stopped, laughed and said: "Well, I've never seen those before."

From the museum the party drove to Culp's Hill where the two men climbed 60 steps to the fourth landing to get a good view of the field. They studied a map on the landing and back on the ground they read the inscription on the monument for the XII Corps, Battery K, 5th U. S. Artillery.

At an equestrian statue Monty asked George Allen: "Are the spurs on correctly?" and Allen said they were.

From Culp's Hill the party drove to Bloody Angle where they walked to the equestrian statue of George G. Meade and studied and read the inscription closely.

President Eisenhower remarked on how young were the generals in the battle. He said Lee was 37 and

President

Meade 42. He told of Meade's services and both men agreed that Meade was not fully acquainted with the battle strategy or the entire situation because he had been in command of the Army only two days.

"When I took command in Europe I was older than most of the generals of the Civil War," the President said, adding that "times have changed on the concept of age in the military."

Had Wonderful Time

After Montgomery read the inscription he said "a northerner must have written that."

The two great military leaders and friends were having a wonderful time and thoroughly enjoyed every minute. They didn't mind walking through the wet grass to the Meade statue. They got their feet good and wet and their trousers were soaked half-way to their knees.

They drove to Little Round Top where they discussed the strategy there. Ike explained the situation to Monty and they walked all around the rocks and to the ledge overlooking the rocky slope to get a better view of the terrain.

President Avoids "Trap"

At the Virginia Memorial where Monty was so anxious to go, he outlined briefly what he would have done instead of the Pickett's Charge strategy: "I would have thrown a right hook around Little Round Top where you had plenty of cover. I would have used a little feint here to draw the Union's attention."

The reporters turned to the President and asked "Do you go along with that theory?" The President laughed and started to walk away: "Oh, no you don't get me into that. Look, I live around here, with the North and the South," he added. Monty said: "Meade didn't make use of his cavalry. He sort of messed around."

Eisenhower said: "There were some of the finest troop movements in military history here but everything seemed to break to pieces on co-ordination, unfortunately of the South."

The President said Stuart let Lee down because of "his love for headlines."

Puzzled By Strategy

As the two men looked over the mile long open field across which Pickett made his fatal charge the President remarked:

"Why he wanted to charge across that field I never knew... I guess he got so mad he wanted to hit them with a brick."

Montgomery called it "monstrous." It was then ten minutes after ten o'clock and the Presidential party turned to the farm where the President changed from a brown sports jacket and tan slacks to a dark, almost black, suit, white shirt, dark tie, and black shoes. Accompanied by Mrs. Eisenhower the party then drove to the Presbyterian Church for Mother's Day services.

Mrs. Eisenhower wore a white flowered dress, and a long dark cape. She wore a red carnation on her cape.

Greeted By Burgess

Montgomery wore a dark grey-mixed double-breasted suit, light blue shirt and tie, and vest. A blue and white handkerchief stuck out of his breast pocket and a gold chain stretched across his vest. He wore a yellow gold ring on his left little finger.

After the church services they drove to the Diorama where they were greeted by Burgess William G. Weaver.

Saturday morning they drove to the farm from the airport and a few minutes later drove around the Battlefield, inspected the Eternal Light Peace Memorial and the British-made breech-loading guns. They drove around the Round Tops, Devil's Den and the Wheatfield and then to George Allen's farm.

Birthday Dinner Tonight

Mrs. Eisenhower and her mother, Mrs. John S. Doud, arrived at the farm at 4 p.m.

This evening there will be a birthday dinner for Mrs. Doud who is 79 years old today.

The President will return to Washington after dinner. Montgomery returned at 11 o'clock this morning by air.

The Presidential party arrived at the Presbyterian Church a few minutes before the hour for the service and were shown to their reserved pew by Challis S. Overcash, host usher. Dr. Milton Stokes, one of the ushers for the day, removed the white satin ribbon that had reserved the pew, just back of the Lincoln pew, for the Presidential party.

In his prayer, the Rev. Robert A. MacAskill, conducting his second service since assuming the pastorate of the local church, asked God's blessing "on our nation, the President of the United States and on all others in authority here and throughout the world."

"A Model Mother"

The scripture reading was from 1 Samuel 21:10 and 18-21, and the Rev. Mr. MacAskill delivered his Mother's Day sermon on the theme, "A Model Mother." Emphasizing the central role of mothers in the home and in making homes Christian, the minister pointed to Hannah, the mother of Samuel, "who by her character and conduct set an example of what motherhood ought to be."

He spoke, too, of the mother of John and Charles Wesley, the mother of Augustine, Lincoln and Dwight L. Moody as "mothers who put first things first." "Nothing can compare with the influence of a Christian mother for the parental obligation is a sacred trust," he said.

Littlestown CROWN STATUE DURING MAY PROCESSION

A statue of the Blessed Mother was crowned Queen of the May, when the annual May procession was held in St. Aloysius Catholic Church last evening, attended by a capacity congregation. Miss Mary Catherine Staveland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Staveland Jr., of King St., was chosen from the girls of the First Communion Class to have the honor of crowning the Blessed Mother.

The procession left the school and continued around the church grounds, and included the cross bearer, Bernard Stuller; acolytes, John Rang and Donald Bevenour; the girls of the school in white dresses and floral wreaths; the boys of the school; the children of the First Communion Class, all in white dresses and veils and white suits; Miss Staveland and her attendants, who included Rosalie Sanders as crown bearer, Sybil Buntly and Joyce Rang, ribbon bearers; the first grade flower girls, Deborah Rohrbach, Judy Riley, Helen Smith, Phyllis Frock, Michelle O'Donnell and Janice Harner; the altar boys and the pastor, the Rev. Fr. William A. Boyle.

The procession moved as the group sang "Ave Maria." The girls taking special part in the crowning were led to the altar by Robert Collins and William Eisenhart, wearing white suits and blue capes, the Blessed Mother's colors, and bearing candles. The group approached the altar while the children sang "Hail Virgin Dearest Mary" and, after presenting the crown of flowers for the pastor's blessing, Mary Catherine placed it on the statue of the Blessed Mother, which was the center of a pastel flower-decked candle-lit shrine, as the words, "We haste to crown thee now," were sung. The Act of Consecration to the Blessed Mother was said by Susan Todd.

Father Boyle Speaks
Father Boyle spoke concerning the Mother of God, noting: "Only those who never honor Mary think of her as a god; we honor her because she is the Mother of God and because He honors her, Himself proclaiming her as Queen of Heaven." The remainder of the service consisted of the hymn, "Remember Holy Mary," by the school children; devotions in honor of Our Lady of the Miraculous Medal and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, concluding with "Holy God."

"NATURE'S SWEET SONG"

There's a small patch of woods where the birds sing all day... while a crystal-clear brook runs along... and I'm always amazed at the harmony of... the birds and the brook's tender song... other magical sounds give enchanting support... to the melody Dame Nature weaves... there is beauty untold as the breeze gently sighs... while embracing the rustling leaves... wild life too lend their voices, for they must be heard... they join in the chorus sublime... such wonderful melody I am quite sure... will live on and on for all time... there is peaceful contentment in Nature's sweet song... wonderful are the lyrics she sings... such is the music I hear in the woods... as the Master of life plucks the strings.

TELLS OF BEING BURIED ALIVE FOR 74 HOURS

RICHWOOD, W. Va. (AP) — "I could see the slate falling like big hunks of paper with black dust pouring out and I said, 'Lord, nobody can stop it but You. If You don't, I'm a goner.'"

That was William C. Richmond talking, telling how it feels to be buried alive for 74 hours in a cold, lightless coal mine of central West Virginia.

The 38-year-old coal miner, working only his eighth shift when the accident happened, rested in his hospital bed today. He was weak with exhaustion but Dr. J. R. Glasscock said he was in excellent condition otherwise.

Trapped Behind Fall
Richmond and four other miners were working in the Donegan Coal and Coke Co.'s Donegan mine about 18 miles from here Wednesday night when a creaking noise warned of a roof fall.

Four men ran toward the main entry and safety. Richmond didn't make it. Hundreds of tons of rock and slate tumbled into a nine-foot area, blocking the entry.

Richmond was trapped between the face of the coal and the fall. Nobody knew it until Saturday night, when rescue workers heard sounds from behind the fall.

Without Food, Water
Richmond's wife and seven children came over from Rupert to visit him yesterday. His wife, expecting an eighth child, said: "If he was safe and sound, the Lord had a hand in it."

Richmond was without food, water or light until rescuers reached him early yesterday.

ELKS' SERVICE

The greatest lament was the toll of the war on women in Germany, that before the war the housewife was the strength of Germany and now weakness and moral breakdown could be seen.

The Challenge To Mothers
"The role of woman, especially of woman in the home, is of tremendous importance, yet there are attempts to undermine that role in our country. Much of the strength, the power and energy of the family is in the hands of the mother. Hers is a labor of love, of care, guidance, inspiration and example. Hers is the role of transmitting courage, prayer and faith that influences her children for the rest of their lives. Her role, by Divine Providence, rests on her shoulders as a tremendous responsibility. If today mothers are lauded, it is because they have met the responsibility that is theirs."

"Our country will be strong as the family is strong. The family will be strong as the mother is strong. We live, by the providence of God, in a country showered with blessings. We live in a country that has a duty to be a model to the world. Since the mothers' place and responsibility is to mold the family; since the families make up the nation, then this is a challenge to the mothers of America, a challenge which must be met if we wish for our country to demonstrate to the world nobility, devotion and love."

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

There was a very destructive fire in the South Mountain last Sunday, continuing until Monday, a strong wind prevailing all of the time. It swept everything before it, we learn from Mr. Chamberlain's in Franklin township to Myer's Mill in Hamiltonban. We have heard that several buildings were burned, but are not able to give particulars. The appearance of the fire from this place, Sunday night, was terribly sublime.

Rapid Abolitionism: The Anti-Slavery society held their anniversary in New York on Tuesday week. — Wm. Lloyd Garrison presided. The resolutions adopted were of the usual character. They were in favor of immediate liberation of the slaves in the South or secession and disunion, advising the Republican party to war on the "institution" in South Carolina, as well as in Kansas; pronouncing secession a high moral duty; and reading southern Christians out of church, wholesale and retail. The speeches were in strict keeping with these incendiary sentiments. Such violence only injures the cause which they pretend to favor.

Barn Burnt: The barn of Mr. Henry Spangler, near New Chester, in this county, was struck by lightning on Friday afternoon week, and burned. The loss besides the barn is trifling. No insurance.

The Rev. Mr. Wilson, principal of the Alexander High School at Monrovia, Africa, who returned to this place a short time ago, with his family, on account of ill health, has left again for the scene of his labors, his family remaining here. He sailed from Baltimore on Thursday last.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Local Items: The final examination of the senior class of Pennsylvania College is in progress this week.

W. H. Deatrick on Wednesday shot a grey eagle on the Conewago in Butler township, which measured seven feet from tip to tip of wings.

J. A. Grimes has sold his store at White Hall to Jacob J. and Albert H. Parr. Mr. Grimes has purchased from John Hartman the house and lot on Baltimore street, this place, now occupied by Mr. Ruff.

Improvements: Jeremiah W. Diehl, Cumberland township, has repainted his residence (formerly the Reynolds Hotel), put a handsome yard in front and otherwise improved the place. David Schriver, same township, has also repainted and much improved his residence.

Mr. Blaine Coning: By the following telegram from Hon. Edward McPherson, it will be seen that ex-Secretary Blaine will certainly be in Gettysburg Decoration Day. Washington D. C., D. A. Buehler, Esq.: — James G. Blaine positively accepts and will be in Gettysburg on Decoration Day. Edward McPherson.

Current News And Notes: The coronation of the Czar has been postponed for a year on account of Nihilist plots.

President Arthur will participate in the memorial services in New York on Decoration Day.

Fairfield Items: Harry Lawrence has put up a new stable on his lot in town.

D. Sullivan has improved his dwelling in this place by putting in new windows and blinds and repairing the portico.

Dr. A. P. Beaver has put up a very convenient stable on his lot and is making preparations for his new house.

Harry Moore, a son of Eli Moore, Liberty township, while engaged in hauling manure, met with a serious accident. The saddle horse on which he was riding fell across the tongue and on Mr. Moore, breaking his leg in two places. He has had several attacks of cramp since, but is getting along reasonably well.

Today's Talk

SECURITY WITHIN

Fears, anxiety and disappointments are largely concerned with material things. They do not bring inward security, fears and their associated kinds do not easily exist. They are crowded out.

With this inward security—self-confidence, enthusiasm, faith in a higher power than ourselves—there is a spirit that takes possession of us, relaxing and giving to us inward peace, which in itself is security.

As Emerson so simply put it, "we are born to victory" and so need this inward security to put light and hope into our lives, and make us happily influence the lives of others. Nothing is quite so inspiring as to give a spiritual life to others. That's the main reason why we were given life in the first place.

When we put heart into all that we do, being good workers, and happy ones, all the mental and spiritual processes of our being are fortified and we work with courage, patience and selflessness, like to read books, and talk with people who are good for me, like healthy exercise and pleasant surroundings. A kind and generous heart warms each day for us like the rays of sunshine that give life to both nature and man.

It is an inspiring thing to have the U. S. coins with the words "In God We Trust" in our pockets, but a better place for them is in our minds and hearts, for then they give to us the knowledge that a nation is great—a nation whose God is the Lord! This alone has a security within that is not matched by any security in armaments, no matter how vast and efficient.

If nations could only turn to moral armaments all other means for security would become archaic! How can we look upon nations as civilized when they choose wars when in trouble?

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Say Good Things." Protected, 1957, by The George Matthews Adams Service.

NEGLECT

On the very rare occasions when I venture out to dine
My wants are few and simple—maybe seven or eight, or nine.
I like to have the waiter or the waitress smile at me
And not rush by my table as though there we shouldn't be.

When my guests and I are seated
I like someone to inquire—
Before waiting thirty minutes—
If there's something we desire.
I'm a patient sort of fellow, but when they go sweeping by
I wonder why they never seem on me to cast an eye.

I know the waiter business is at times a wearying task;
But "Can I get you something?"
doesn't take much time to ask.
But after we're been seated and we're read the bill of fare,
We'd like to have our dinner.
That's the reason we are there.

TEXAS TOWN IS HIT BY FLOOD AS LEVEE SNAPS

LAMPASAS, Tex. (AP)—A wall of water cascaded into this central Texas city today when a levee broke under the strain of two rain-swollen creeks.

The entire business district was flooded, between 50 and 100 homes were knocked off their foundations and hundreds of persons were homeless. Red Cross disaster headquarters were established.

The surging waters of Burleson and Sulphur creeks swept into the city's business district last night after torrential rains up to 6.50 inches soaked the area, some 50 miles west of Temple. Later they began to recede as the rain let up.

Millions In Damage
Destruction was expected to run into millions of dollars.

Ward Lowe, publisher of the Lampasas Dispatch, said one person was known to have drowned. Another woman was missing after her car was washed off a truck to which she had been clinging.

All power was knocked out. Telephone lines were out except for one emergency phone. The sheriff's office and fire department were inundated and water ran four and five feet deep in the town square.

Some 30 to 35 persons were trapped in the downtown area.

Flash Floods At Dallas
The flood came after a new outburst of violent weather rains, storms and tornadoes in storm-battered Texas. At least three persons were drowned in other areas.

Flash floods at Dallas closed 100 streets last night and forced the evacuation of an estimated 100 families after a 5-inch cloudburst. The runoff sent the Trinity River on a new rise that was expected to hit 35 or 36 feet today, four or five feet higher than the present level.

The Red Cross reopened its disaster relief shelter in Dallas that was set up during the earlier floods.

Flood warnings were issued for Georgetown, 28 miles north of Austin.

FROSH DEATH STIRS CORNELL TO STIFF CODE

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—A series of campus accidents, including one that was fatal to a freshman, has resulted in an order for a new and stiffer code governing house-party weekends at Cornell University.

President Deane W. Malott of Cornell told student leaders yesterday they must put the new code into effect before the "Fall Weekend," usually held in late October or early November.

Malott acted after the death early yesterday of Frederick J. Nowicki, 19, a freshman from Yonkers, and what the university described as "a series of accidents, law violations and numerous instances of misbehavior" during the "Spring Weekend."

Nowicki was injured fatally when he fell from the second-story porch of the Phi Kappa Tau fraternity house about 5:30 a.m. He died at the university infirmary about 8:10 a.m.

Dr. Ralph J. Low, Tompkins County coroner, issued a verdict of accidental death.

Stephen J. Sindin, 19, of State College, Pa., was reported in critical condition yesterday of injuries suffered May 4 in the fall from a window at the Sigma Pi fraternity house. He suffered a concussion, internal injuries and a broken right arm.

Sindin had been changing records on a phonograph near the window when he fell out. Lowell George, a proctor, said the window sill was about eight inches from the floor.

Baghdad Pact against communism is a major sore spot in Iraq-Egypt relations. Egypt's President Nasser advocates a policy of what he calls "positive neutralism" between East and West but has made his country dependent on the Soviet bloc for arms supplies and much trade.

The official Jordan radio Saturday night accused Egypt and Syria of joining the Soviet Union in a conspiracy "prepared by agents of international communism" to overthrow the rulers of Jordan, Iraq, Saudi Arabia and Libya.

Hussein had blamed a plot by international communism against his monarchy when he proclaimed martial law at the height of the political turmoil in his country last month. The purported details were printed in the independent Amman newspaper Al-Urdun and stamped with official approval by the government radio's broadcast.

The conspiracy's aim, the story said, was to establish republics in the four countries under Egypt's leadership.

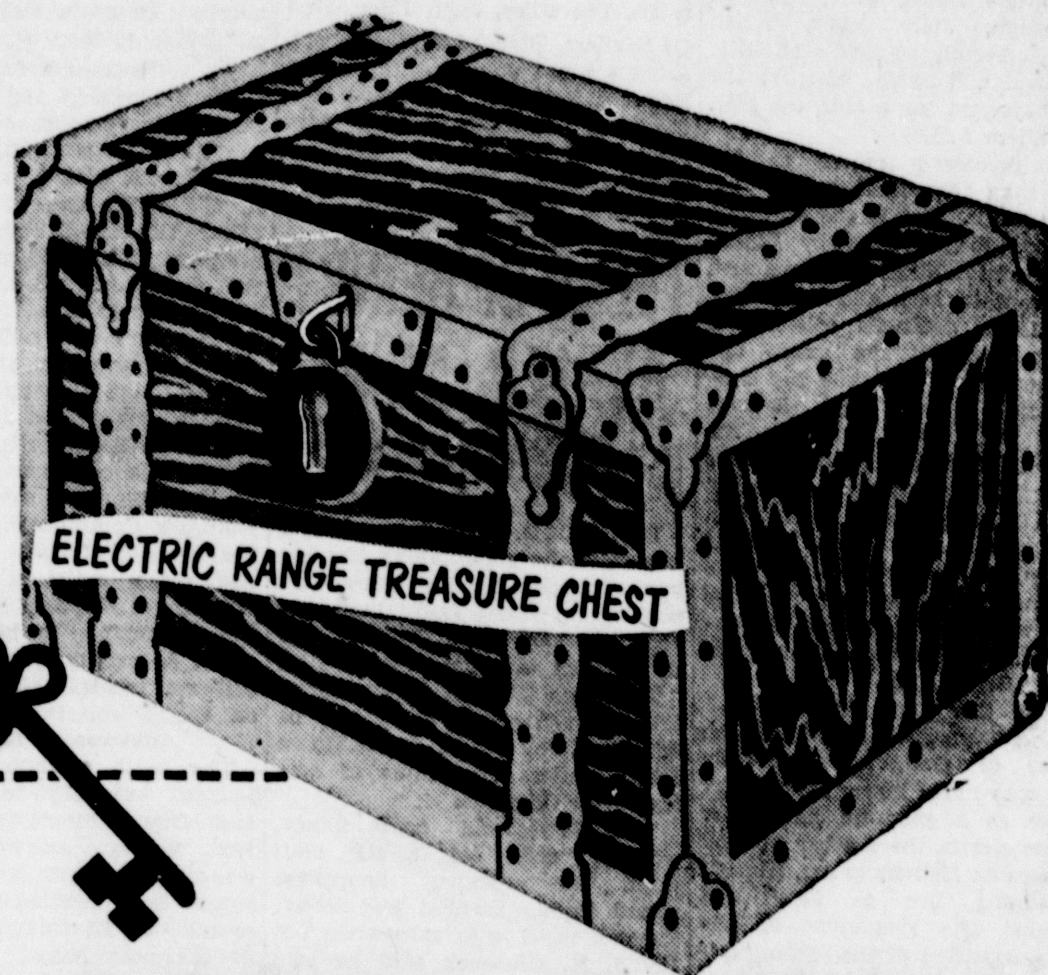

Police decided to turn the money over to the Jaycees.

Chambersburg Cops South Penn Track Title; Warriors Fifth; Keefer, Little Snare Firsts

For the first time in history a new school — Chambersburg — has won the annual South Penn Conference track meet. The meet was held Saturday afternoon on the Gettysburg College athletic field.

The Trojans breezed home a comparatively easy winner in piling up 60 points to far out-distance the defending champion, Carlisle, who finished second with 37½.

Prior to Saturday's meet only Gettysburg, Hanover and Carlisle had gained titles. The Gettysburg Warriors finished fifth with 27 points.

Team scoring follows: Chambersburg, 60; Carlisle, 37½; Hanover, 34; Waynesboro, 27½; Gettysburg, 27; Hershey, 26; Middletown, 10; Mechanicsburg and Shippensburg, 0.

Set New Mark
One new record was set, Chambersburg 880-yard team winning that event in 1:34.3. The former record was 1:37.7 and was set by Carlisle in 1953.

Ken Keefer was the big gun for the Warriors, coping the 180 low hurdles, placing second in the 220 and third in the 100. He tied his own record in the low hurdles trials at 21.1 and then won the final in 21.5.

Earl Little took the broad jump with 20 feet 2½ inches and was fifth in the 100-yard dash.

Other Warrior points came from the following: George McPeaters, fifth in the mile; Ken Mummert, third in the 120 high hurdles; Charles Fair, fifth in the high hurdles; Sidney Steinhorn, fifth in the javelin; mile relay, third.

Relay Disqualification
Hanover High's mile relay team was disqualified and Hershey was moved to first place when a Night-hawk poked the Hanover anchor man, Fred Stauffer, who was first to the ribbon.

DEMARET WINS $20,000 OPEN

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. — The numerous talented youngsters who have flocked to professional golf in the past few years still have trouble with a sharp old pro like Jimmy Demaret.

Demaret, 46, was almost flawless on and around the greens yesterday as he posted a five-under-par 67 to take first money in the $20,000 Hot Springs Open.

The dapper one, this time attired in a plain white shirt and not-so-plain pink trousers, spotted stocky young Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N.Y., two strokes and 16 years as the final round got under way.

Demaret's 73-66-70-67—276, 12 strokes under par, beat Souchak and four others by one stroke. His 66 on the tricky, 7,000-yard Hot Springs Country Club course here was the best of the tournament.

Bunched with Souchak, who had a final 70, were Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., the 1956 winner, who fired a 68; Lloyd Mangrum of Apple Valley, Calif., 68; Johnny Palmer of Tulsa, Okla., 67; and Jackie Burke of Klamath Lake, 68.

Bucknell Holds Onto Golf Title
MOUNT UNION, Pa. — Bucknell University is still team champion of the Middle Atlantic States College Athletic Conference Golf Tournament.

Bucknell retained the title Saturday by finishing five strokes ahead of Lehigh at the American Legion Country Club course here. Those two teams topped a record field of 17 colleges.

Hofstra, of Long Island, N.Y., captured third.

Bucknell's John Dunn took medalist honors over Leslie Norbury, of Lehigh, in an extra hole playoff after shooting 149 for 36 holes.

Richard Burdick, the Central Pennsylvania amateur champion from Franklin and Marshall, took third with 151. Pete Foley was fourth with 154.

Leaders Hold Pace In York Bowling
YORK, Pa. — Leadership of the 18th annual Pennsylvania Men's Bowling Championships remained unchallenged for the second straight week, except in one division.

Only in the all events bracket was there a change. Ted Hoffman Sr., of Philadelphia, moved into second place with a 1,965, displacing John Gladora, Pittsburgh, into third with 1,958.

SMITH WARNS PHILLIES CAN CAUSE TROUBLE

PITTSBURGH — Mayo Smith, manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, says he's "not kidding" himself about his team.

"If these kids hold up we'll give them all a lot of trouble," Smith said. "If they don't, I don't know. We'll then have to settle for fourth, I guess."

In an interview by sports editor Al Abrams of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, Smith identified the "kids" as: pitchers Jack Sanford and Don Cardwell, first baseman Ed Bouchee and outfielders Harry Anderson and Bob Bowman.

Fernandez Is Key Man
"Credit the farm system or call it luck, whatever you wish," said Smith. "These youngsters, especially Sanford and Cardwell, have been wonderful."

"Sanford," Smith explained, "has kicked around in our farm system for years. He finally found himself. Cardwell came up from Miami. He's 22 and has a great pitching future ahead of him. As for the others, I'm hoping they can keep the pace they've been setting."

Smith said the key man on the Phillies is Chico Fernandez, acquired in a trade with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

"We had a terrible infield last year," Smith said. "We had to do something, and fast, about getting a shortstop. Roy Hamey made a great deal when he got us Fernandez. You don't know how much he has steadied our infield."

Smith was asked about reports that the Phillies are getting ready to make a trade with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

"We haven't come close to making a deal with Pittsburgh," he replied. "In fact, we haven't talked much about one."

"Not Jones"
"I'll tell you something, though," he added. "We're the only club the Pirates can deal with as far as I can see. Milwaukee, Brooklyn, Cincinnati and St. Louis appear set. I doubt if they'll do much trading. New York and Chicago have nothing to offer. That leaves Pittsburgh and Philadelphia."

Smith said he would be interested in obtaining outfielder Bill Virdon and pitcher Roy Face from the Pirates.

"I read in your Pittsburgh Papers where I'll give the Pirates Harvey Haddix and Willie Jones or Rip Repulski," Smith said. "I might—but not Jones."

HERB SCORE'S EYE IS BETTER

CLEVELAND — An eye specialist says he is encouraged by the progress being made by Herb Score, 23, Cleveland Indians pitcher who was hit in the right eye by a line drive.

"Herb is responding nicely to treatment and the eye is much better," Dr. Charles I. Thomas said yesterday following an inspection of the ace southpaw's injury. "The blood clot is about half absorbed and the veil is gradually lifting. I'm very much encouraged about things."

Dr. Thomas was able to see about half the retina of the eye and said it "looks good." However, he has not had an opportunity to make a complete examination to determine whether permanent damage has been done to the eye.

Stroked by Yang Phil Gravink of Olymer, N.Y., Cornell skinned over the flat, unfurled like on a windless, cloudy day in 9:38.2, nine seconds faster than the lake mark set by Cornell's junior varsity in 1955.

Yale, which blew the race by a bad start, also broke the record with 10:02.2, and all four crews snapped the Carnegie Cup mark of 10:23.4 for Cayuga, Princeton was third in 10:12 with Syracuse's sophomore-dominated shell fourth in 10:17.4.

In other eastern action last weekend, Rutgers beat Columbia and MIT in that order on the New York Harlem River. Harvard scored by a deck-length over Navy and Pennsylvania—another deck-length behind—in the Adams Cup on the Schuylkill at Philadelphia, and Dartmouth and Boston University wound up in a dead heat of a mile and five-sixteenths battle at Dartmouth in 7:01.8.

GRID MENTOR DIES ON SUNDAY

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. — The two men who probably knew him best joined today in paying tribute to former Fordham University football star Len Eshmont, University of Virginia backfield coach who died yesterday in the university hospital.

Virginia Coach Ben Martin, who brought Eshmont with him when he came to Charlottesville as head football coach in 1956, lauded Eshmont for "high courage and great strength."

Navy Coach Eddie Erdelatz, who launched Eshmont's career as a coach when he brought him to Annapolis as an assistant in 1950, called him "a fine fellow . . . a real competitor."

Eshmont, 39, died of a liver ailment and complications. He had been a patient at the hospital since Feb. 13 and less than two weeks ago underwent major surgery.

A star halfback for Fordham in 1938, 1939 and 1940, Eshmont played professional football for one year after graduation with the New York Giants. Eshmont was a native of Mt. Carmel, Pa.

Redlegs — Collected six hits in a 7-5, 7-1 doubleheader sweep over Chicago, boosting average to league-leading .396.

PITCHING — Tom Brewer, Red Sox — Held Washington for two hits in 10-0 victory in first game of doubleheader.

Cornell May Sweep Rowing Honors for '57
ITHACA, N.Y. — Off his great performance in the Carnegie Cup regatta, Cornell's veteran crew appeared ready for another sweep of the Eastern Sprint and Intercollegiate Rowing Assn. championships.

The Big Red all-senior eight, only unbeaten crew left in the east, whipped hitherto undefeated Yale in the Carnegie Cup two-mile race on Cayuga Saturday, and will be favored to do it again in the sprint championship at Princeton's Lake Carnegie next Saturday.

Cornell, winner of the Eastern Sprints and Yale titles last year, but beaten by IRA in the Olympic trials, gained a measure of revenge in its record-breaking triumph on Cayuga. True, the Yales only had four rowers and the coxswain back from the Olympic championship eight, but the impressive one-length win helped salvage the Big Red's wounded feelings.

MIDDLEWEIGHTS IN SPOTLIGHT FOR THIS WEEK

By JACK HAND
The Associated Press
The middleweight division provides the excitement this week in boxing with an interesting match between Joey Giardello of Philadelphia and Rory Calhoun of White Plains, N.Y., drawing special attention to the Cleveland Arena Friday night.

Calhoun and Giardello were to have fought last December but Calhoun suffered a training camp injury. An injury to Giardello's eye forced postponement of a scheduled April match.

In his 28-fight career, Calhoun has lost once to Spider Webb of Chicago last August. However, he is moving up into a tough league with Giardello, 26.

The bout will be carried on NBC TV-radio.

Boyd-Vaughn Wednesday
Bob Boyd, a Chicago middleweight who was flying high in the 160-pound class until knocked out by Giardello last September, draws a shift substitute opponent in Willie Vaughn in the Wednesday night fight at the Chicago Stadium. Vaughn, who suffered an eye cut in a recent bout.

It will be Boyd's third fight since his Giardello disaster. Oddly enough, Vaughn's most recent fight was with Giardello, a no-decision battle in Kansas City March 27 where the officials got mixed up in their scoring.

The International Boxing Club match gets the usual Wednesday night ABC radio and TV coverage.

Tonight At St. Nick's
Vince DiBlase, a New York University student who has been making quite a name for himself in the welter class, takes on another youngster, Jimmy Archer of New York, in the Monday show at St. Nicholas Arena. There will be DuMont TV coverage in some sections.

Both boys are 21 with DiBlase unbeaten in his last 19 starts. Archer has won 11 of 12 as a pro and will be making his main event debut in this match.

Carmen Basilio, world welter champion, boxes over-the-weight Thursday at Portland, Ore., against Irvin Steen of San Diego, Calif.

Joey Giambra, high-ranking middleweight from Buffalo, now fighting out of the San Francisco area, takes on Chico Velaz of Stamford, Conn., at Oakland, Calif. Tuesday.

Willie Pastrano, New Orleans heavyweight contender, boxes Neal Welch of Toledo on the Tuesday card at Miami Beach, Fla. . . . Slugger Bob Satterfield of Chicago tests the chin of Frankie Daniels of Bakersfield, Calif., at Sacramento, Calif., Thursday.

4 From State High In Trapshooting
NEW YORK — Four Pennsylvanians, including two from Lebanon, were among the leaders in the 48th annual National Trapshooting Championships held at the New York Athletic Club's Travers Island range last Saturday.

Walt Ostrom of Orangeburg, N.Y., retained his championship despite some close bids for the crown. He broke 192 of 200 targets to win the title for the third time in his six years as a trapshooter.

George Newmaster of Lebanon and C. H. Ziegler of Vernfield, Montgomery County, were tied for second place with 190 shattered targets each.

H. A. Williams of Allentown was in a 3-way tie for 8th place with 183 targets, and in a 2-way tie for 10th spot was Frank A. E. Dissinger of Lebanon with 181.

GALLANT MAN OUT OF RACE

BALTIMORE — With Gallant Man definitely out of the Preckness, Bold Ruler holds the center of the Pimlico stage today to start a week's buildup for Saturday's $100,000-added classic.

Despite word from owner Ralph Lowe that Gallant Man would not be shipped to Pimlico, there remained more uncertainty than usual about the field for the race.

Still a doubtful starter was Gen. Duke, Calumet stablemate of derby winner Iron Liege.

Bold Ruler, a disappointing derby fourth, will sport blinkers and will be allowed to run his own race in the prep this afternoon. Jockey Eddie Arcaro tried rating him in the derby.

Running with Bold Ruler will be Gough Thompson's Inswep and Mrs. Janon Fisher's Convey. There will be no betting on the prep which is an eighth of a mile shorter than the mile and three-sixteenths Preckness.

KHRUSHCHEV GIVES IDEAS ON WAR PERIL

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times Saturday quoted Nikita Khrushchev as saying the surest way to avoid war between Communist and non-Communist nations is for America and Russia to find some common way to ease tensions.

The Soviet Communist party chief made the statement in an hour and 50 minute interview in Moscow with Times Managing Editor Turner Catledge who is on a tour of the newspaper's foreign bureaus.

Catledge said Khrushchev's views on this point were prompted by a question whether he favored another Big Four summit meeting.

Favors Meeting
Khrushchev said he decidedly favors such a meeting, but he insisted that the responsibility for

"Aquacades" To Do Its 13th Season

NEW YORK (AP) — One of New York's longest-running summer-time outdoor shows has decided not to try its luck with a 13th season.

Elliott Murphy said that declining receipts made him decide against a new edition of "Aquacades" this year at the Flushing Meadow Park, which was the site of New York's World Fair in 1939.

New York's other big outdoor spectacular "Show Boat," will go on again however in the amphitheater at Jones Beach state park.

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Jim Theiss, a University of Dayton junior, has found a peaceful place to study. His part time job — and full time residence and study hall — while going to college is in a funeral parlor.

easing world tensions rested most heavily on the United States and Russia — "first and foremost on the United States."

The Times' dispatch from Moscow summed up the views expressed by Khrushchev on diverse subjects as follows:

Any Big Four parley should be carefully prepared in advance.

The question of Europe as the most important provoker of tensions is a "knot" that creates disputes.

JOHNSON SAYS IKE SHOULD BE CLEAR TO PUBLIC

By JACK HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) called on President Eisenhower today to make it clear in a TV-radio address "whether he wants an economy administration or a spending administration."

Johnson, Senate Democratic leader, said in an interview "the administration is speaking out of both sides of its mouth" on fiscal matters and Eisenhower himself ought to clear the matter up.

Eisenhower goes on the air tomorrow night to defend his $71,800,000,000 spending budget. Democrats are almost certain to ask for equal time to reply, but were reported undecided about their speaker.

Touched Off By Adams
Johnson's blast was touched off by a comment yesterday by Sherman Adams, chief presidential assistant, that the budget can be cut from 1½ to 2 billion dollars without impairing government efficiency.

Adams, interviewed on a television program by Rep. Keating

(R-N.Y.), did not specify whether he was referring to Eisenhower's spending budget or the $73,300,000,000 in new appropriations Eisenhower originally asked for the year starting July 1. Eisenhower already has suggested Congress could cut the new money about $1,300,000,000 and mentioned another 500 millions it might want to consider deferring until another year.

Sen. Bridges (R-NH) referred to these figures in a weekend statement and said that in addition the administration has agreed not to ask Senate restoration of $46 million dollars cut by the House from money bills already handled. He said that added up to more than two billions already cut, and forecast further reductions.

Example Of Agreement
Describing Aams as "the very able and very authoritative chief of staff" for the White House, Johnson said this was another example of disagreement within the administration. Eisenhower himself has rejected the possibility of a two billion cut in his spending proposals.

Johnson listed what he said were conflicting statements on spending by Eisenhower, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, Vice President Nixon and others. Johnson said Congress "will listen carefully to the President's address tomorrow night in the

Helps Deaf Mother Know Baby's Needs

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — A baby specialist here reported that a cause of considerable anxiety among mothers with faulty hearing is that they won't be awakened by baby's crying during the night. The specialist — a woman — suggested a solution and Medical hope that it will settle once and for all just exactly what the administration is recommending."

College Research Laboratories produced a gadget to waken the deaf mothers.

It's an electronic device that converts the slightest sound from the baby's crib into vibrations which the mother receives from an instrument under her bed pillow. A Service Club which sponsored the development lends the device on request.

Nice for a change — diced unpeeled red apple and finely diced celery add to green cabbage for slaw.

ARABIAN HORSE

Park superintendent, riding a horse owned by Dr. Bruce N. Wolff, explained the battlefield story. At other sections of the field, LeRoy H. Winebrenner served as guide.

A box lunch was served at noon by the Zwingle Circle of Trinity Evangelical Reformed Church at the Pennsylvania monument.

Assisting in the conduct of the tour were Mr. Teeter, Mr. Winebrenner, Dr. Wolf, Wilson Clapsaddle, LeRoy LeVan, Dr. S. D. Solomon, all of the Gettysburg area, and Lewis Foye, Hanover.

A buffet supper was served at the Teeter home Saturday night. Sunday the group took a 10-mile ride that began along W. Confederate Ave. and continued from Pitzer's School House, to Black's Tavern, to Knoxlyn and back.

Tentative plans were discussed for another weekend tour of the Gettysburg area. The Arabian horses were stabled at the Clapsaddle, LeVan, Dr. Solomon, Winebrenner, Teeter and Col. Nixon (Bircher) farms and at the Country Club stables.
